

The curse of ham unplugged is an examination into the biblical passages permitting the damnation of the black race. It explores the scriptures that permit and justify the nation of the African to be the servant of all nations to come. Step by step we look into the issue of the blacks of the bible being cursed to the unanswered gaps in doctrine and the view of Noah by his son Ham. We see how scientific racism has played a part in the Negro being like unto an animal nature and studies from other nations on the similar issue. More than just Willy Lynch and Jim Crow. But society's way to divinely use the Blackman for its backbone and DNA.

About The Author

Abdullah-Faheem Madyun is a Author, Father, missionary, blogger, speaker & lifelong religious teacher. His studies involve advanced study of Arabic. Also Hebrew, Egyptian hieroglyphics and middle Egyptian text along with the backgrounds of teaching, Islam, Christianity, Judaism, Hinduism and so forth. He currently lives in America with his wife & children.

2016 Breaking Free Publications. All Rights Reserved. Cover Art by: Abdullah Madyun. Editorial by: Ameenah Madyun. Distributed by: Breaking free Publications™.

